Ozarks Genealogical Society Presents Conference Sept. 23-24

Springfield, Mo. – The Ozarks Genealogical Society, Inc., will present its 31st Annual Conference Sept. 23-24 at the Clarion Hotel, 3333 S. Glenstone Ave., in Springfield.

The conference, “Research Between the Lines,” will feature Barbara Vines Little, CG, FVGS. Vines Little is a well-respected genealogist who specializes in Virginia and West Virginia genealogy, finding women ancestors, using manuscript records, land platting, and problem solving. She holds an M.Ed. from the University of Virginia and has been a professional researcher since 1982.

Her accomplishments include former president, National Genealogical Society; coordinator, Virginia track, Samford University’s Institute of Genealogy and Historical Research; Honorary Life Member of the Virginia Genealogical Society; and editor of the Virginia Genealogical Society’s quarterly, Magazine of Virginia Genealogy.

Vines Little will present four sessions on research pointers, using land records, working with manuscript collections and tracking migrating ancestors.

Four mini sessions will be presented on beginning genealogy, researching ancestors from distant repositories, preserving family papers and using National Park Museum collections.
